Most people who have suffered the sudden loss of a loved one are haunted by the trauma of being notified. While there is no easy way to impart bad news, there are helpful techniques for delivering news that can be both beneficial to the survivor and messenger.

You will leave this seminar with a greater understanding of the needs of bereaved individuals and appreciate the complexities of your role as a notifier.

“This publication was supported by a Victim of Crime Act (VOCA) and State Victim Assistant Act (SVAA) grant award administered by the Ohio Attorney General’s Office. Victims of federal crimes will be served.”

Sgt. Brooke Wilson comes to us from the Columbus Division of Police, where he supervises the Accident Investigation Unit. He will be presenting the Death Notification Trainings on behalf of the Ohio State Office of Mothers Against Drunk Driving.
